

Summary of UniSuper's Group Conflicts Management Policy

Our Group Conflicts Management Policy documents our framework for identifying, assessing, managing and monitoring actual and potential conflicts of interest that may arise in the course of business activities or in respect to the interests and duties of Responsible Persons.

The Group Conflicts Management Policy forms part of UniSuper's broader Risk Management Framework.

Our policy sets out the following:

- The mechanisms to support management of conflicts as applicable to an RSE, AFSL and ACL Licensee.
- The different types of conflicts which may arise and examples of each type.
- The roles and responsibilities, particularly as they apply to the management and reporting of conflicts.
- The materiality thresholds that apply for reporting purposes.
- The frequency and scope of monitoring activities.
- The oversight and governance of our conflicts management framework through our Board Audit, Risk and Compliance Committee.
